

Reclaimed Nail Buckshot Heart Pine

This unique reclaimed floor is specially sawn from the tops of outstanding heart pine structural timbers formerly supporting decking nailed down with 1/4" industrial spikes. The resulting nail pattern is an indiscriminate 'buckshot' distribution of black holes. This one-of-a-kind flooring is undirected, haphazard, and undeniably cool, making it extremely popular with bar owners and restaurateurs.

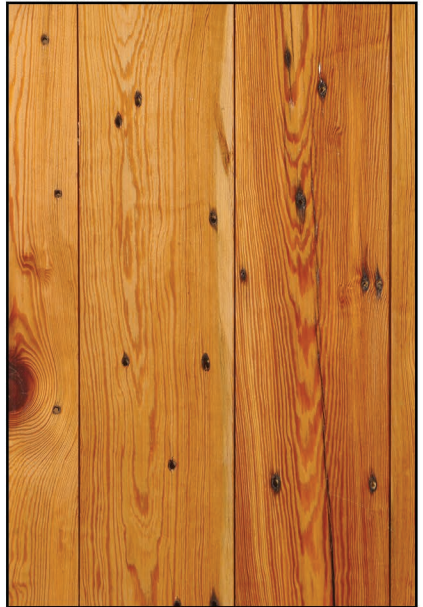

Knots and some surface checking occur in this grade, ring density is generally eight to the inch or greater.
